

Assignment 1 - MIT Observation

Attend a class that you have taken at MIT. Sit in the class and do "an observation." Take notes on what is going on during class. Focus on certain aspects of the class, or certain people in the class. What are they doing? What are your indications that they are or are not paying attention or comprehending what is going on in class?

Summarize your observations in a few pages and post them online. You must also respond to three other people's posts.
