Outline

• Suggested Proposal Outline - IDEAS

• Dominant Development Paradigm & New Development Paradigm (E. M. Rogers, DOI Ch. 3, pp.131-132)

• Discussion of some DOI Case Studies
Suggested Proposal Outline - IDEAS

• Problem Statement – The Need?
• Prior Art – Current Solution?
• Benefits and drawbacks of current solution?
• New Idea/Innovation
• Benefits
• Community partner and/or social, cultural, geographic context
• Implementation-Work to Date or Implementation Plan
• Challenges
• Impact
• Project Timeline
• Short Team Biographies
• Budget
Past Meaning of “Development” -

- Economic growth though industrialization and urbanization
- Capital-intensive, labor-saving technology focus, mainly transferred from industrialized nations
- Centralized planning, mainly by gov’t economists and bankers
- Failures to development lie mainly with developing nations, rather than in their trade or external relationships with industrialized countries (Rogers “individual blame” vs. “world-system blame”)
Meaning of “Development” Today

• A widely participatory process of social change in a society intended to bring about both social and market advancement (including greater equality, freedom and other valued qualities) for the majority of people through their gaining greater control over their environment (Singhal and Rogers, 2001)

• Priority of villagers, urban poor, women and other marginalized groups as main target audiences for development programs
Critiques of Diffusion Research

• Pro-innovation Bias – implication that all innovations are good and should be diffused rapidly
• Individual-blame Bias – tendency to hold the individual responsible for his/her problems, rather than the social system
• Recall Problem – inaccuracies when respondents asked to recall the time when they adopted a new idea
• Issue of Equality – socio-economic gaps are often widened as a result of the spread of new ideas
