

Welcome to Gateway

Professor Bish Sanyal

Ford International Professor of Urban Development and Planning

Today's Agenda

- Introductions
- The purpose of the course
- Brief commentary on Key Debates
- Course Requirements
- New Role of Students of Color Committee
- On Writing

Introductions

- Instructor: Bish Sanyal
- Teaching Assistants:
 - Mia C. White, PhD 3 (Group 1)
 - Robert Goodspeed, PhD 2 (Group 2)
 - Atul Pokharel, PhD 3 (Group 3)

What is this course...

...and what is it not?

Key Debates

Week 0	What is the scope of planning?
Week 1	Olmstead Jr. vs. Marsh
Week 2	Regionalism and Regional Planning
Week 3	Possibilities and Limits of Planning
Week 4	Development Planning
Week 5	Technology
Week 6	Rational Comprehensive vs. Strategic Incrementalist
Week 7	Planning and Dissent
Week 8	Top Down vs. Bottom Up
Week 9	Is Planning the Handmaiden of Capitalism?
Week 10	Just Processes vs. Just Outcomes
Week 11	Globalization and City Planning
Week 12	Methodology
Week 13	e-Governance The Education of Planners

Course Requirements

- Class Participation: class discussions, group discussions (25%)
- Response papers (individual+group) (25%)
- Midterm Research Paper (25%)
- Final Research Paper (25%)

New Role of Students of Color Committee (SCC)

- Remind us of the history
- Diversify thinking for generating more innovative solutions

On Writing

Introducing Cherie Abanat and the need for good writing.

MIT OpenCourseWare
<http://ocw.mit.edu>

11.201 Gateway to the Profession of Planning
Fall 2010

For information about citing these materials or our Terms of Use, visit: <http://ocw.mit.edu/terms>.