

DELIGHT

Is the site a pleasure to visit? Does it elicit delight? Does it make you want to return?

MIT Home Page: "Graphics should elicit surprise, laughter, or delight. (Other reactions may be equally acceptable.) They should offer a unique perspective on MIT, its community, its campus, or its research, although seasonal or more generic graphics are appropriate as well. Originality and creativity are the two most important elements of a good home page variation." Graphic Guidelines for the MIT Home Page
