121. Mossovet, plan for the Moscow area, 1918.

122. B. V. Sakulin, plan of territorial organization for the Moscow area, 1918:
1. existing city; 2. existing railways;
3. projected railways; 4. projected electric lines; 5. zones of economic importance,
with electrified industrial zones, satellite cities, etc.

MOSSOVET

- Dispersed satellite nuclei
- "Disintegration of the cities"

SAKULIN

- "Triple bond of satellite cities"
- Any shaped railway acts as a limit to urban expansion, beyond which all streets, parks, agriculture etc.
- Rejection towards reconstruction for the sake of a plan of rapid industrialization.
