1. Contrast retrograde and anterograde degeneration in the CNS.

2. What are two behavioral specializations, in primates, that include expanded control areas in the CNS.

3. The worm-like animal Amphioxus has a nervous system that is “simpler” than that of many insects. Yet, it is a member of our phylum, the chordates. Why is it classified as a chordate?