Fuhrer,

It is the opinion of my chief scientists that Project Helheim will not be able to produce enhanced infantry in any reasonable quantity within the timespan afforded by the recent advances made by the Allied forces. The fatality rate is far too high to be practical to use on German soldiers. From this point forward, I am diverting all prisoner of war shipments to Bergen-Belsen for purposes of carrying out Operation Thorn.