Week 13: Final Class

1) Does it matter that the actresses in Memoirs of a Geisha were mostly Chinese? Why or why not?

2) Would it be worse if they were white?

3) What does performance tell us about culture in today’s world? Does it provide a more flexible way to approach identity politics?

4) In what circumstances should we be especially cognizant of the performative aspects of identities?