READINGS AND RESOURCES

Books for the course (available at MIT Bookstore):
Our main textbook for the course will be the following, abbreviated to Rome on the schedule of readings below:

The following translations of Greek and Latin masterpieces will be consulted frequently. If you choose not to purchase your own copy of each, please remember that you will be expected to have some version of the text with you when you come to lectures and recitations.

Additional readings on class web-site:
Further reading material will be made available on the web-site for this subject. Such material is clearly distinguished as such on the schedule below.

Useful web-sites:

Forum Romanum
www.forumromanum.org
A range of ancient sources in translation; a few articles on life in ancient Rome.

JSTOR
www.jstor.org
The Scholarly Journal Archive.

Lacus Curtius
penelope.uchicago.edu/Thayer/E/Roman/home
More ancient sources in translation; useful collections of photos of Latin inscriptions and theatres inter alia; a few old secondary works on ancient Rome.

Perseus Digital Library
www.perseus.tufts.edu
A wealth of information: plenty of translations of Latin and Greek sources; lots of photographs of Roman sites; much other useful material.

The Stoa Consortium
www.stoa.org
Several ongoing open access online projects.
ASSESSMENT

CLASS PARTICIPATION 20%
Your grade for class participation will be based on the following:
1. Attendance
   You are required to attend both the Tuesday and Thursday lectures and your weekly recitation.
2. Reading
   You are required to complete all reading assignments in time for the meeting with which they are associated, as indicated on the schedule. You are also required to bring with you to lecture/recitation a copy of any reading that has been assigned.
3. Active participation
   You are expected to arrive at your weekly recitations having completed all the reading and prepared to pose questions and actively to contribute to the discussion of the material covered that week.

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS 60%
There are FOUR required writing assignments for this subject: THREE papers of 7 pages, ONE of which must be revised and resubmitted, in accordance with the guidelines for CI subjects. Each paper will make up 20% of your final grade. Please note: in the case of the paper you choose to revise, your grade for the 20% in question will be the average of the grade on your original version and the grade on your revised version.

In order to catch any early problems as well as to allow time for thoughtful revision, you will be required to revise and resubmit one of the first two papers due. Students who receive a grade lower than B on Paper #1 will be required to revise that paper; all others may choose which of their first two papers they would prefer to revise. As part of the revision process, all students will be required to attend a 30-minute tutorial with the writing tutor for this course, Carolyn Cohen, at which you will have the opportunity to discuss strategies for improving the quality of your writing.

Due dates for the four writing assignments are as follows

1. Paper #1 Thursday, Feb. 24
2. Paper #2 Tuesday, March 29
3. Revision of Paper #1 or #2 Tuesday, April 26
4. Paper #3 Thursday, May 5th

FINAL EXAM 20%
A final exam of 1½ hours will be given during the regular examination period. Full details of the expectations for the exam will be circulated in due course.
CRITERIA & GUIDELINES FOR PAPERS

Papers receiving high grades will excel in each of the following:

Argument and Structure
Your paper should seek to convince its reader of an argument, a thesis, offered in answer to one of the questions set. The thesis should be clearly stated in the introduction to the paper. The body of the paper should then seek to support your thesis by marshalling an abundance of evidence from the ancient sources in a clearly structured, coherent, and linear argument. Finally, a conclusion should remind your reader of the thesis you have been supporting and show how that thesis is relevant to a wider historical context. Remember throughout that your paper should be a work of critical analysis.

Knowledge and Understanding
Your paper should display a close knowledge of the ancient source(s) on which your argument rests: knowledge both of the details of relevant passages as well as of the work as a whole. Your ability to subject the sources to critical analysis and to come to your own understanding of their significance should also emerge clearly from your paper.

Quality of Writing
Your argument should be expressed in clear, concise, and readable English. There should be no errors of grammar, syntax, or spelling. Precision and elegance of expression will be rewarded.

Referencing
You must always acknowledge your sources. Please note: Every time you either quote directly from a source or even simply refer to a source, you must provide a full citation. Since your papers are intended to be written largely from ancient sources, your citations will most frequently be to the likes of Suetonius or Tacitus. It is conventional in the field of ancient history to cite ancient authors in the text of an essay, not in footnotes or endnotes; so, for example: ‘Suetonius here suggests……..(Suetonius, Nero 23)’ or ‘Tacitus records that……..(Tacitus, Annals 1.10)’. Since your paper should include an abundance of ancient evidence in support of your argument, there should be many such citations along the way.

Should you choose to consult modern sources in addition to ancient (highly recommended), you must be sure to provide full references here also. Such references should usually be provided in footnotes.

Plagiarism
Full referencing is the only way to avoid plagiarism. Any unacknowledged borrowing of ideas, arguments, or direct quotes – whether intentional or not – is plagiarism and must be avoided. If you are not sure what plagiarism is, go to the MIT Online Writing Communication Center and follow the ‘Citing and Using Sources’ link or see the Humanities Library’s publication, Plagiarism and How to Avoid It.

Using the Internet:
There is much of use to the ancient historian on the internet. There is also a lot of nonsense. Feel free to use the internet; but be aware that you are responsible for being critical of the material you encounter there and will be penalized for making use of sites that spout nonsense. As with any source, you must provide full references to material you consult on the internet, including the title and author of the page in question, the date on which it was written or last updated, the URL, and the date on which you accessed the site.

Formal Presentation:
All papers must comply with the following presentational guidelines:

- Papers must be 7 pages in length.
- Papers must be typed in 12-point Arial font, with 1½ line spacing.
- Standard margins (1.25” left and right, 1” top and bottom) must be used.
- Papers must be held together with a paperclip (NOT stapled: all papers will be photocopied after initial grading for reference of the writing tutor).

Penalty for Late Submission
Papers are due at the beginning of the lecture on the scheduled due date. Any paper submitted after the beginning of the relevant lecture will be considered late by one day. Any paper submitted on the day after the due date will be considered late by two days, and so on. Unexcused late submissions will incur a penalty of one partial grade step (e.g. from A- to B+) for each day late. Only serious and documented circumstances will be accepted as excuses (e.g. serious matters of health or other personal emergencies). Late papers should be submitted to Prof. Broadhead’s mailbox in the History Office.
