Think about an industry you have worked in recently. What was the single most important innovation to occur during its lifespan? Describe how your company, as well as other companies in the industry, reacted to the innovation.