Not all economic forces respect industry boundaries

Cartoons for all kids

or

All entertainment for some kids
“Increasing returns” operate at several levels

- fashion season
- Game
- X-bit generation
- Video game industry

This has implications for sustainability
- It is hard to capture more value than you create, but in some industries you can capture most of what you create, in others little.

- This is essentially a question of bargaining power.