

Application: Formulate a problem statement

This is a team assignment; every member of your team must take part in doing this assignment. Only one member of your team needs to submit this form.

As a team, describe your challenge of choice, which you will tackle over the next two weeks, by answering ve questions: Who? What? Where? When? Why? Answer each question using simple language free of technical terms and professional jargon. For this in-class assignment, feel free to write as much as you wish for each question.

You can use the class presentation to help you nd sources. You may also use additional sources.

You are not expected to comprehensively address all the possible challenges/problems to do with the topic in question; instead, focus one one challenge you believe your team can describe and generate ideas for over the next two weeks.
