Study Area: furnace 4 area 3 position of furnaces in systemic context material flows throughout site
material flows throughout site
furnace 4 area
serial construction sequence diagram of steel making process
NETWORK IS STRUCTURE AND OBJECT
furnace 4 steel
furnace 4 raw material
furnace 2 steel
storage yard/
office
housing
furnace 5 loc.
network
ruins
cooling
pond
cooling
tower
gas
wash
furnace 4
cooling pond &
tower
sight lines / dynamic edges potential adaptations
Most existing models of adaptation conserve the object not the network.

Both physical and social entities render the network.

The furnaces are the material and social nexus of Shougang Factory.

Their location, spatial qualities, and iconic status anchor the site and demand special consideration.

The serial nature of the five furnaces support differentiated interventions.

How is a network preserved?